IN MEMORY OF

Margaret Julia Browning

Margaret Browning worked as secretary at Ypsilanti High School for seven years. During that period of time she was totally dedicated to her job. Those who knew Mrs. Browning will remember her as a caring individual who was never too busy to help others. She spent untold hours helping students with their personal problems and served as a second mother to scores of students. She always maintained a positive attitude and a cheerful disposition. A part of her will continue to live, reflected in the lives and memories of those of us who knew her.

As man enters the 80's his future unfolds before him. He amazes at inventions never before realized, and transforms yesterday's dreams into tomorrow's realities.

Space and science plays an important role in that life, but only in the past decade have we, the future leaders, and the leaders of today acknowledged this rapid change.

With overpopulation, famine, disease, and lacking energy resources facing man, space and science will provide an entirely new horizon to explore.

We will be the first generation ever to live in the age of Science Fiction becoming a way of life both here on Earth and in the deep reaches of space.

Will we carefully extract it's treasures, or will we maliciously exploit it as we have already done on our own planet?

It is a reality that space and science will insure man an alternative to life on Earth, and that it holds for the 80's as well as the future decades a choice for the men and women of our generation to make.

Only we, the generation of tomorrow, can make that choice. It is to that decision that we devote the theme of this book.

THE FUN THEY HAD

by Isaac Asimov

Margie even wrote about it that night in her diary. On the page headed May 17, 2157, she wrote, "Today Tommy found a real book!"

It was a very old book. Margie's grandfather once said that when he was a little boy his grandfather told him that there was a time when all were printed on paper.

They turned the pages, which were yellow and crinkly, and it was awfully funny to read words that stood still instead of moving the way they were supposed to — on a screen, you know. And then, when they turned back to the page before, it had the same words on it that it had had when they read it the first time.

"Gee," said Tommy, "what a waste. When you're through with the book, you just throw it away, I guess. Our television screen must have had a million books on it and it's good for plenty more. I wouldn't throw it away. "Same with mine," said Margie. She was eleven and hadn't seen as many telebooks as Tommy had. He was thirteen.

She said, "Where did you find it?"

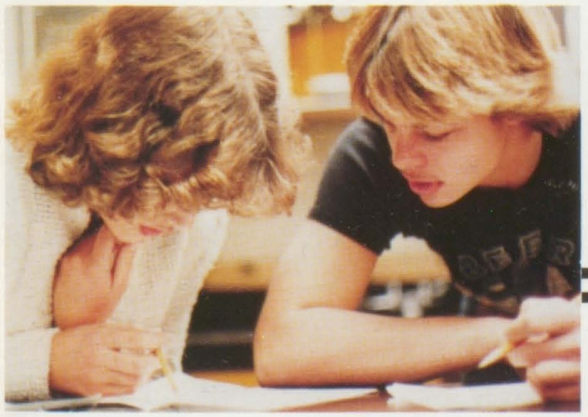

"In my house." He pointed without looking, because he was busy reading "In the attic."

Today's Science Fiction, Tomorrow's Realities

"What's It About?" "School."

Margie was scornful. "School? What's there to write about school? I hate school."

Margie always hated school, but now she hated it more than ever. The mechanical teacher had been giving her test after test in geography and she had been doing worse and worse until her mother had sent for the County Inspector. He was a round little man with a red face and a whole box of tools with dials and wires. He smiled at Margie and gave her an apple, then took the teacher apart. Margie had hoped he wouldn't know how to put it together again, but he knew how all right, and, after an hour or so, there it was again, large and black and ugly, with a big screen on which all the lessons were shown and the questions were asked. That wasn't so bad. The part Margie hated most was the slot where she had to put homework and test papers. She always had to write them out in a punch code they made her learn when she was six years old, and the mechanical teacher calculated the mark in no time.

The Inspector had smiled after he was finished and patted Margie's head. He said to her mother, "It's not the little girl's fault, Mrs. Jones. I think the geography sector was geared a little too quick. Those things happen sometimes. I've slowed it up to an average ten-year level. Actually, the over-all pattern of her progress is quite satisfactory." And he patted Margie's head again.

Margie was disappointed. She had been hoping they would take the teacher away altogether. They had once taken Tommy's teacher away for nearly a month because the history sector had blanked out completely.

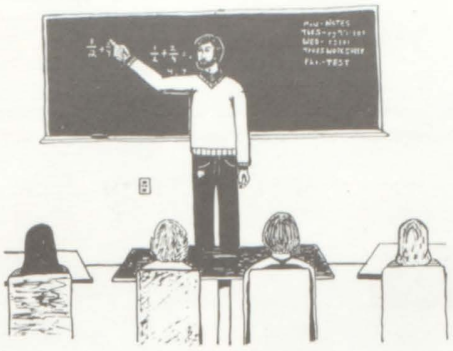

So she said to Tommy, "Why would anyone write about school?"

Tommy looked at her with very superior eyes. "Because it's not our kind of school, stupid. This is the old kind of school that they had hundreds and hundreds of years ago." He added loftily, pronouncing the word carefully, "Centuries ago."

Margie was hurt. "Well, I don't know what kind of school they had all that time ago." She read the book over his shoulder for a while, then said, "Anyway, they had a teacher."

"Sure they had a teacher, but it wasn't a regular teacher. It was a man."

"A Man? How Could a Man Be a Teacher?"

"Well, he just told the boys and girls things and gave them homework and asked them questions."

"A man isn't smart enough."

"Sure he is. My father knows as much as my teacher."

"He can't. A man can't know as much as a teacher."

"He knows almost as much, I betcha.

Margie wasn't prepared to dispute that. She said, "I wouldn't want a strange man in my house to teach me."

Tommy screamed with laughter. "You don't know much, Margie. The teachers didn't live in the house. They had a special building and all the kids went there."

"And all the kids learned the same thing?"

"Sure, if they were the same age."

"But my mother says a teacher has to be adjusted to fit the mind of each boy and girl it teaches and that each kid has to be taught differently."

"Just the same they didn't do it that way then. If you don't like it, you don't have to read the book."

"I didn't say I didn't like it," Margie said quickly. She wanted to read about those funny schools.

They weren't even half-finished when Margie's mother called, "Margie! School!"

Margie looked up. "Not yet, Mamma."

"Now!" said Mrs. Jones. "And it's probably time for Tommy, too."

Margie said to Tommy, "Can I read the book some more with you after school?"

"Maybe," he said nonchalantly. He walked away whistling, the dusty old book tucked beneath his arm.

Margie went into the schoolroom. It was right next to her bedroom, and the mechanical teacher was on and waiting for her. It was always on at the same time every day except Saturday and Sunday, because her mother said little girls learned better if they learned at regular hours.

The screen was lit up, and it said: "Today's arithmetic lesson is on the addition of proper fractions. Please insert yesterday's homework in the proper slot."

Margie did so with a sigh. She was thinking about the old schools they had when her grandfather's grandfather was a little boy. All the kids from the whole neighborhood came, laughing and shouting in the schoolyard, sitting together in the schoolroom, going home together at the end of the day. They learned the same things, so they could help one another on the homework and talk about it.

And the teachers were people . . .

The mechanical teacher was flashing on the screen: "When we add the fractions ½ and ¼ —"

Margie was thinking about how the kids must have loved it in the old days. She was thinking about the fun they had.

MILLAGE

Cut That Out!

Darth Voter Strikes at Y.H.S.

Not so long ago in a city not so very big . . . The Millage! . . . The millage was shot down and killed by the oppressive forces of Ypsilanti. The rebel students tried to start a new millage. But this was again shot down and killed when the oppressive forces of Ypsilanti struck back! Darth Voter was the main leader of the Ypsilantian forces against the rebel students. Now that the rebel students were on the defensive, they lost their meager privileges such as clubs, drama, photography, and yes . . . even sports activities! Well known leaders were lost to us such as Brush Bates, one of the leading authorities on art maneuvers. Many were not eliminated, but wounded seriously and were no longer able to do the tasks they felt most qualified to do. But the saga continues!! The government now is joining those oppressive forces.

For Instruction & Curriculum

The school millage defeat on August 11, 1980 delt a serious blow to the District's instructional intramural and extracurricular programs. Elementary and Secondary schools were all affected. While the District will continue to maintain a quality educational program, lack of adequate funding will make this task increasingly difficult.

Ypsilanti High School experienced the following program and personnel reductions:

- eliminated the 6th period of the school day
- 11 teachers
- 9th grade athletics
- 2 secretaries
- 3 counselors
- 4.5 building assistants
- 1/2 librarian
- 3 paraprofessionals
- field trips
- supplies, textbooks and equipment

Better than the Atom?

New equipment purchased for the Business Education department at Ypsilanti High Planetary School is one of the better items to come around since the atom. For instance, the System 44 Alfa-type will take your dictation automatically and type it out in correct form. The price for eight of these systems is well over 8,000,000 Venution smackers. The money was raised through a schoolwide asteroid sale.

The classes offered prepare you to take part in major business deals. The classes are Business Law, Business Marketing and Intro-Data Processing. Obtaining a job in the universe can become easier if you take one of these classes. This is especially true when applying for a position as an Olkeo and Pokijon, where prior experience is a must.

Many of the Martian immigrants take Accounting and Record Keeping because of their high aptitude in this area.

Several of the graduates from this academy have acquired jobs as control panel key punchers on spaceships which travel throughout the galaxies. Starting pay for these positions is 59,000 Venution smackers. Therefore it is easy to say that taking these courses is very worthwhile.

Attention agents Barbara Berry, Angel Felipe, Angie Fanslau, and Sharon Ongaro: Your new assignment is again to be at Ypsilanti High School. (Sorry about that, but we couldn't find anything better.) You are to try to upgrade the students' intelligence; to prepare the students, bless their little hearts, for the outside world; for possible travel to foreign countries (for instance, New York City).

Your materials are as follows: French, Spanish, German and several lazy students.

Unknown to the students of the Home Resources department, it plans on conquering Earth; a creature from another planet that placed itself in our water system, snaking its way through the pipes of Ypsi High School, eventually ending up marinading a Beef Stroganoff. Soon it will expand, becoming a massive blob absorbing students left and right.

Suddenly a student comes up to the stove, wielding a fork. She proceeds to dissect the beefy beasty, carving it into several small chunks which withered and hissed. It screamed and cursed in a language far above human perception.

"Its done!", she called, flinging its steaming body onto a platter.

Four minutes later, the appetizing alien was devoured for lunch. It was finger-licken' good.

Industrial Arts: 2001

The Industrial Arts department offers many courses so the average student can learn the basics.

The courses are Basic Nuclear Fission, Small Hyperdrive Engines, and the study of construction of one-man spaceships.

In Basic Nuclear Fission the students learn about the inner workings of a nuclear reactor. This includes wiring, the principal parts and the fuel. Two fuel sources which are often used are plutonium and U-238.

Small Hyperdrive Engines is taken by students who are interested in the design, construction, and uses of the hyperdrive engine in today's society. Another skill learned in this course is small hyperdrive engine maintenance. Another benefit is that students who have taken this class will be eligible for scholarships from major spacelines.

The last catagory, Construction of One-Man Spaceships, is just what the title indicates: the construction of small, one man spaceships. After the ships are finished, they are tested by NASA. The students will be graded according to the quality of the construction. If a student passes, he or she will be able to take their spaceship on a short tour of the solar system.

You've Never Done Anything Like It Before!

"It was the greatest experience of my life, I'll bet that you've never done anything like it. We traveled back in time to learn the english language!"

"How ever did you do that?"

"Well I don't understand all the scientific details behind it, but I do know that you have to choose a time and a place on a linear time scale, program the computer for it, step into the teleporter, and there you will be."

"Why did you get to go?"

"Well, they chose 10 students. In order to get chosen, you had to do well on your language adaption tests. You also had to have the ability for high level abstract reasoning. Another factor in their decision was based on appearance. It helped if you looked young enough to be in the 13D level of education."

"What was it like? I mean visiting an ancient culture?"

"It was really interesting. We took on the identity of 'high school' students and learned the language. Their primitive method of teaching was quite simple and we learned very rapidly. The way they structured their English was very confusing at first, but we picked it up quickly. The hardest aspect of the language was having to use our vocal cords and mouth."

"You mean they don't communicate through telepathy?!"

"I'm afraid not. We sure have come a long way."

"Well, let's finish this discussion over nourishment."

"By the way, I hear we're going to try an attempt to go into the future. I might sign myself up."

"I might also."

Honors Eng, Click, Eng, Click, . . .

This year we started a new Honors English class for tenth graders. Last year the students interested in this class had to fill out an application, take a reading class and write a paper to see if they were acceptable to be in this class. In the class they study novels, plays, grammar, and science-fiction. This class prepares the students for college. They will be developing higher reading skills, better vocabulary and studying skills. In this class they study more about the history of American literature and major American radiation writers. When we asked a teacher (who wanted to remain anonymous) about the thought of a mechanical teacher replacing human teachers in the future, she replied that she did not think it could be programmed to teach this particular subject. A computer can't build the emotional climax and comparison from one novel to the next. READING

The Course Designed for the Individual

1

Future Reading

Over the past 500 years the reading process of the average human has increased 10 folds. This is due to the biological and scientific advancements of man. In the year 1980 the common method of teaching reading skills was done by humans themselves. That method gradually decreased with the elimination of differences between the average person. Then a way was discovered to imprint the genetic code of choice human beings into the developing zygote (Zygote-first stage of development in human reproduction). In this way we were able to control the level of intelligence, physical stature and such. The most recent development is a computer that when programmed with the brain-wave pattern of a being is able to determine the weakness and strengths of the individual. It adjusts itself to meet the specific needs of that individual. The computer is fully mobile and in the form of human being so that relating between the computer and its subject are easier. The computer is able to intake verbal messages and to respond verbally.

MATH

Adding Up the Fun

It Won't Always Be This Way

There are many different things that one must learn these days, but in days to come one very important thing to learn will be math.

Now there are many different ways to go about learning math in our present day and age. There's the classic "teacher-textbook", which is how most of us acquired skills in the field. There are some people who are able to "self-teach" math to varying degrees. And even, though only since a few years ago, computers are able to teach you math. But with the advent of true space travel, there will be a need for a much higher level of math education in a lot more people. Now this would take a long time to attain this higher math, so other means of math (or any other field) education must be invented. In the book "THX-1138" by George Lucas he describes a method of learning by use of intravenous education. A fluid is put into your blood stream which, when it reaches your brain, it will slowly, (though quicker than classes), teach you. "Hypno-education", is learning thru hypnosis all that you need to know and never forget! Wouldn't that be nice. Brain wave learning, is kind of like imprinting information on your brain, the way you do music on a cassette tape. One run-thru and you know! There are many other ideas for ways to learn math like: in your sleep, inheriting it genetically from your parents, or learning more by reading the mind of someone who does know math. I'm sure we'll find a new way sooner or later, but in the meantime I guess we'll have to stay with the book method . . .

MEDIA CENTER

Shhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!

Ms. Kathleen Laracey

Attention, Space Cadets!

Attention all you young, eager space cadets. Right here in your very own Space Academy is a place where you can get loads of information about any subject in the universe. I'm talking about the Ypsi High Media Center. The Media Center (M.C.) is a great little space port with everything you need to do any report. You not only have a wide selection of books old and new but there are filmstrips, tapes and vertical files, where you can find all kinds of helpful ideas on every thing from dog houses to neutron bomb blue prints. Then, in the lower M.C. you have a huge reference section and a far out little item called micro-fich. A new space age technology idea of compacting newspapers into small microfilm which can be viewed by a simple to use enlarger. There are also video tapes you may view. With a little help from those cute little androids down there, you can actually make your own video-tapes (with advanced notice, of course). So if you have a space report that absolutely needs to have top quality computer print-outs, swing by the M.C. at space port 1137 right next to 1136 and 1138. For more information on everything the M.C. offers, contact your space port supervisor or any android that works in the M.C. Thank You.

Athletics Yet to Come

"Hurry up or you'll have to wait in a long line."

"All right, I'm coming. Quit rushing me."

"All right Dave, just make it 'on the bounce.'"

Janis had every right to be in a big hurry, because today was Sportsday! The biggest day of the year for almost all of the youngsters of Torus II.

"How did Sportsday get started?" Dave asked as they headed for the nearest air tube."

"Oh, you tourists are all alike, don't know a thing about what you want to see."

"I'm not a tourist," Dave countered defensively, "I'm a full fledged citizen now that my father is working for the Solar Energy Research Department."

"I was just teasing, you don't have to get all upset. Sportsday started soon after the colonists moved into Torus II. Since it's a much larger space colony than Torus I, there's a lot more room for recreational activities. People found that they could do things in Torus II's low gravity, 1/5 earth normal, that weren't possible in T.I. or on earth. Even a lot of earth sports had to be altered to be playable. Now let's quit yapping and hustle so I can register and you can find a good seat."

As soon as they left the air tube on level 1, they found themselves in a crowd of considerable size. They made their way to the spectators entrance.

"I gotta be going, find a good seat, look for me in the acrobat competition. Bye." And with that Janis hurried off to get ready.

Dave went and bought a program, it would give him more information than that blasted Janis could anyhow. He returned to his seat and began to read. He found that when Torus II was finished, there was still a stockpile of materials at the Lunar Mining facility. So they decided to build an offshoot to the space colony for a very low gravity area. After the colonists had settled, the low gravity area was slowly accepted as a recreational sports area. The colonists, who had lived on earth just 6 months earlier, found that some sports were a lot different in lower gravity than normal gravity. For instance, a swimmer could fly right out of the water, so a new swimming stroke was invented, the "flying crawl". Another new thing about water fun was that you could make a "barrel-shaped" pool, this way you could look up and see your friends swimming in the water above you. Many conventional sports were altered also. In Basketball, with low gravity, you could jump higher and farther, sometimes as high as 30 feet, and throw farther; many times the length of the court. This was also true about football and other field or court sports. Consequently, a lot of the strategies and rules had to be changed to accommodate these new concepts.

But, there was still one sport which was solely possible in low gravity, but nowhere on earth. This is the event which is the highlight of Sportsday: the day of the year when all of the youngsters of Torus II show off their talent to the colony, and thanks to satellite communications, the world.

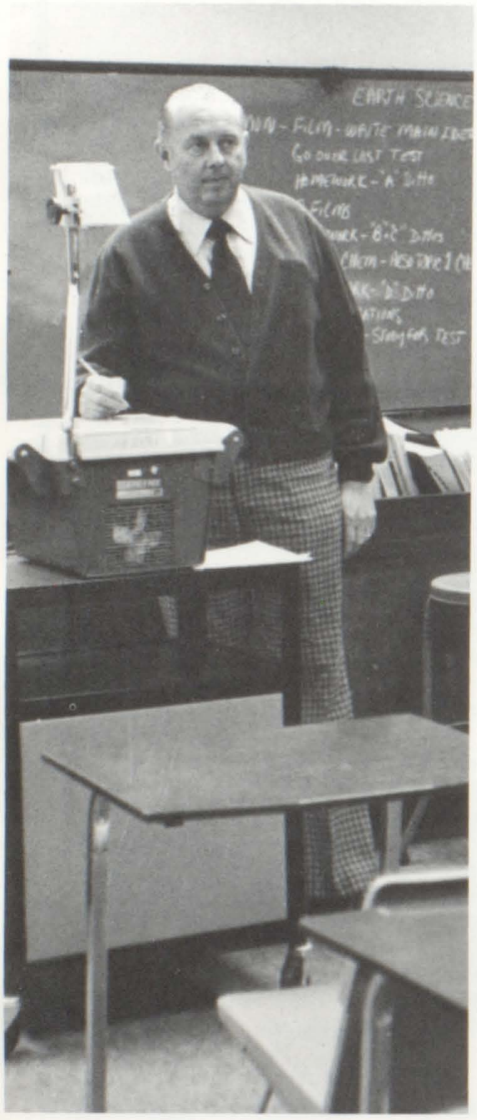

The events were beginning. Dave could see Janis in her striking green-gold suit. She and the other contestants began the day with their awe-inspiring acrobatics of the air. For there was Dave's friend performing aerial flight just like a bird. Turns, rolls and loops, flips, and slips. Janis was one of the best in the colony, and the best would be here today.

It was Sportsday.

A Letter Home

Dear Mom,

Today we uncovered a time capsule! Everybody here at the Academy is very excited about it. Think of it, Mom — it's like a tiny corner of the past was cut off and left for us to examine!

Professor Whale told me that I could attend the opening of the capsule this afternoon. Can you believe it? I'll bet that every student in the Academy wishes he were me. Well, I've got to go now, but when I get back I'll tell all about what I saw.

It was incredible, Mom! There were eight objects in the capsule and all of them were quite mystifying. One object as near as the professors could tell, was some kind of filter, meant to fit something very small and oddly shaped. Five of the objects were little squares of paper that once had something printed on them, but had long since faded into indistinction.

The object that was causing quite a stir was what appears to be a map of what Earth used to look like. It depicts quite a lot more land encompassing our globe than what we presently have!

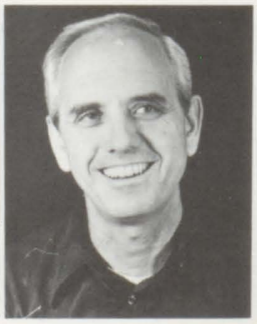

These objects, plus the fact that the capsule was highly contaminated with radiation, has led some of the professors to the conclusion that the capsule was left by aliens who visited here in prehistoric times. Personally, I'm not so sure of this, for the last object was a piece of paper that had a sentence written on it in that ancient language that was recently deciphered.

"And the meek shall inherit the Earth." What do you suppose it means, Mom?

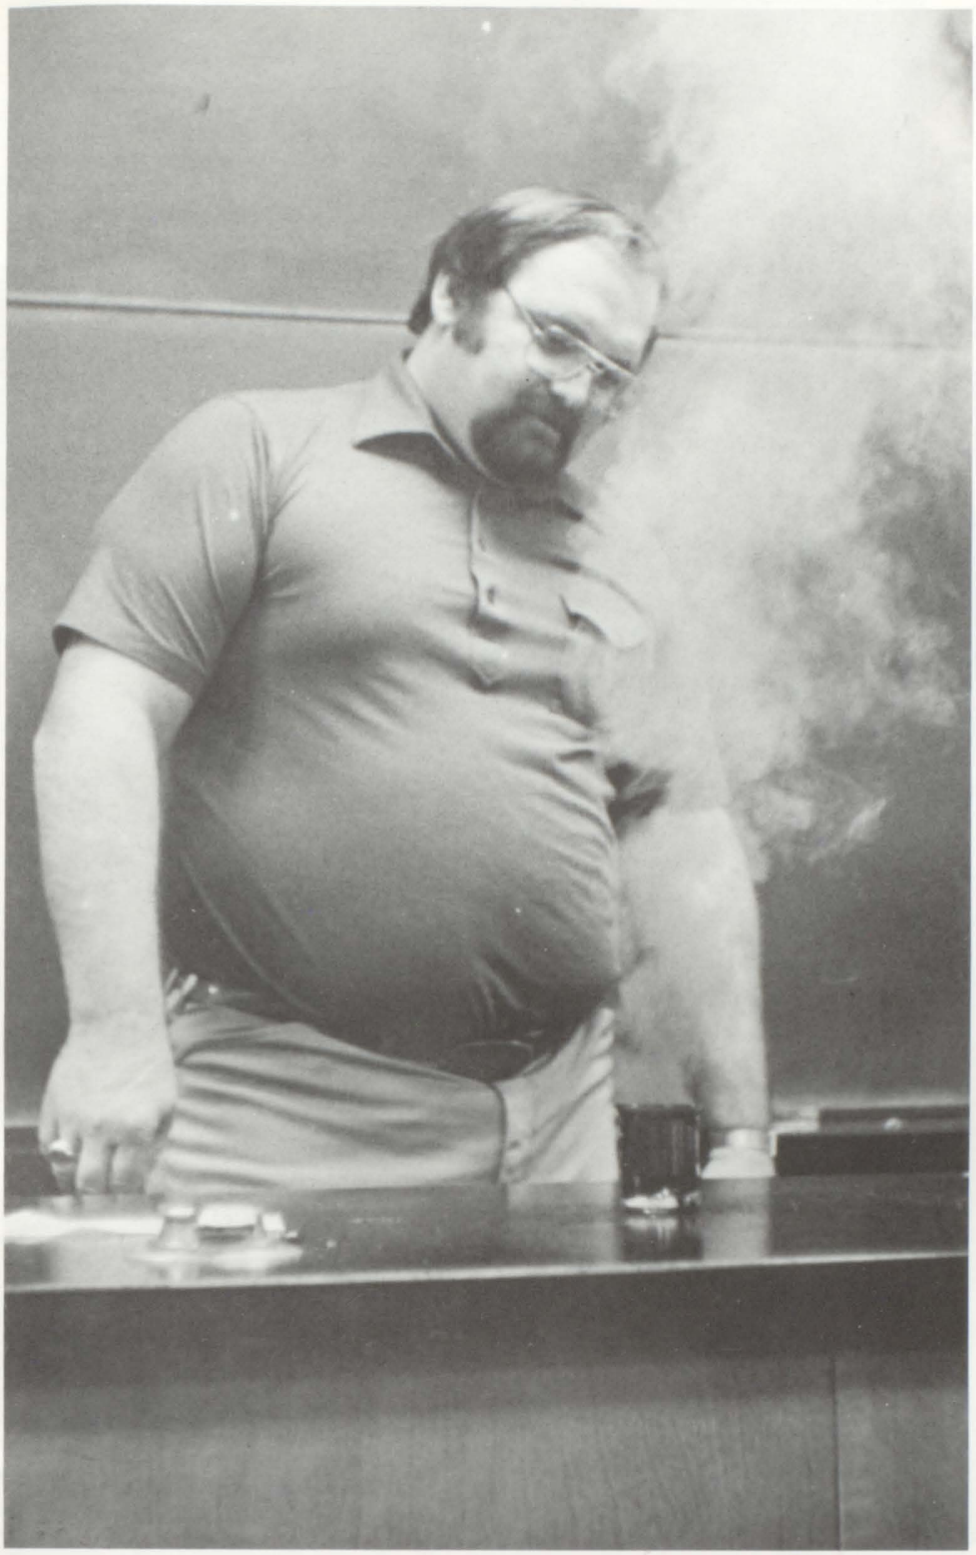

Oh, by the way, I'll be swimming home for vacation. See you then!

Your loving son,
Flipper

SOCIAL STUDIES

History in the Making

Welcome To . . .?

The sign read:

ARTIFACT WILL BE ON DISPLAY
23.2 S.V. to 14.51 L.V.
QUARANTINE-REQUIRED

There was a gentle hush that passed through the student crowd when the professor began his lecture . . .

"We have set the age of this artifact at approximately 2,500 years old. Dating it at around the late 1900 O.T., just before the last war, which as you all know brought the downfall of primitive civilization. It was discovered in a dig in the southeastern area on the Lake region.

"Now, you are all students involved in the written translation of that time on Old Terra, and you have all studied what is left of that forgotten time, so you know a new find is a great discovery. This metallic slate, about 2 meters by 1 meter with pigments encrusted on it, has given us a clue to more civilized remains. The first two words we understand, but the last word confuses us. We theorize from our readings of other remains of that area, that it is a word referring to a populous area. We are planning an extensive dig of the surrounding area. If anyone is interested in our project, please, register at the 'Investigation Office'. Dismissed."

As the crowd left, I stopped to gaze on the wonder. A teaching assistant came and reverently picked up the small piece of history. As he passed by I read the writing on the artifact:

A Revolution in Ypsilanti High School?

A&P Newsflash

Today here at Ypsilanti High School, (YHS), a revolution is taking place. The Anarchy Club, carrying goofy and ridiculous, but menacing weapons rumored to be supplied to them by rumored beings from another rumored planet, has taken over Mr. Grimes' office during 2nd hour. These students are declaring that all students in the school are now free from the raging suppression of the administrators and teachers. The four students who make up the club are declaring themselves the school leaders, autonomous from outside influences, adding that the Superintendent and Board of Education are to be next.

What follows is their explanation to the students of YHS of what to expect as long as their plans keep going smoothly:

Attention: Newly liberated YHS Students.

All extrinsic motivational factors are hereby liquidated, including attendance policy, and the grading system of the dethroned heirarchy. All students will want to continue to attend class, however, not because of those old numerous regulations and threats, but because classes will be designed so they will want to go.

The YHS students will collectively make decisions regarding the school through the democratic process, supervised by the "Anarchy 4", something we were not able to do in pre-revolutionary days.

The first series of proclamations is set forth right now:

1) The existing food companies serving the cafeteria will do so no more. A panel will be established to insure that GOOD food is sold in the cafeteria.

2) All barriers hindering movement, i.e. gates, locked doors, etc. shall be removed from the school premises. The hindering of movement will not be tolerated by us freedom loving students.

3) The call of announcements will not be a xylophone but a cut from a popular album, such as Led Zeppelin and Al Hudson.

4) Corridor passes and admit slips will be burned.

5) All teachers are on a one year probation. If it is found that they do not live up to the high quality educational standards that we will set forth, they will be terminated.

A trustworthy source, who infiltrated the rebel students' group by offering them his King Dongs, has reported that the rebels were contacted by the aliens by use of this very subtle advertisement: "Join the Anarchy Club!" After replying to the ad, the rebels were informed that they would receive their weapons in boxes of "Whoop-pies" cereal, batteries not included.

Why a group of aliens would want to start all this here at Ypsi High at all was carefully explained to our source: "Why not." Our source was also told that the alien beings themselves bear a strong resemblance to Steve Martin. This was told in utmost confidence, but we find this a little hard to believe.

Later today, we interviewed some students and faculty about what they thought of the take over: twelve gave definite "Whats?" and two thought we were discussing "The Empire Strikes Back."

R.C.T.C.

Is it School or Work?

R.C.T.C., (Regional Career Technical Center) is like a high school but, it's not. The purpose of R.C.T.C. is to help each student to work in any field in which they desire to work in and prepare them to start their career.

The students that attend R.C.T.C. feel they have more freedom to do what they want to do to help them in their career for their future to come.

When the name R.C.T.C. is mentioned most students who don't attend think it's just a place where you can get out of school for a few hours to goof off and that they really can't help you learn anything. But, they are most certainly wrong. R.C.T.C. is a marvelous place to help kids get ready to start a career in doing something that they really enjoy, instead of working in some carry-out restaurant when they are out of high school. R.C.T.C. trains students in the field they would like to work in, to really get themselves ready to obtain a good job in life.

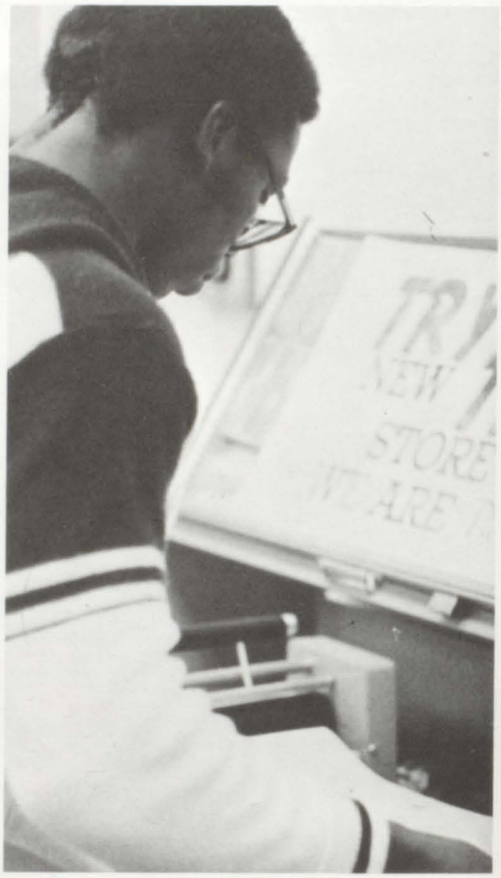

There are many fields to choose from such as:

1. Auto Body
2. Auto Mechanics
3. Building Trades
4. Child Care
5. Electrical Occupations
6. Engineering Drawing
7. Food Management
8. Graphic Arts
9. Medical Careers
10. Office Lab
11. Sales
12. Welding

(All of these classes will give you a very good reference whenever you get ready to start your career).

Join the ALTraF

Clifton was just entering the Advanced Lunar Training Facility (ALTraF). Here he would be taught all of the special skills needed to make it in the space race. The best would be here, all the great professors of field mechanics, astrogation, stellar gas identification, and others. You could learn things like basic asteroid mining, environmental analysis (useful in planet exploration), as well as simple space health problems and their treatment. Clifton himself was going into mainly Starship Engineering and Alien Lifeforms. Established only 35 years ago, it opened up the cosmos by making the effort to educate those bold enough to try and pioneer it. Clifton was entering ALTraF as an inexperienced freshman, but would graduate a Starship Engineer and a Space Pioneer extraordinaire!

THE WHITE HOUSE STAFF

THE CHANGING OF THE GUARD

With Dr. Joseph E. Pollack leaving as Superintendent Of Ypsilanti Public Schools for the Flint school system, the position now has to be filled by the Ypsilanti School Board — the "changing of the guard". To fill the position, the board must follow a complicated process in order to find whom they feel is the right person for the job.

They start by sending out brochures with the requirements and duties of the superintendent to placement centers at various universities who in turn notify people who might be interested in applying. Then these people submit their applications to the school board. In this case there were 58 people who applied. Out of the 58 the school board chose seven finalists whom they invited to the school district to have a look around and to be publically interviewed by the school board. During the interviews, which lasted about an hour and half, the public was invited to ask questions.

The school board, based on the results of the interviews, whittled the seven down to four, then went to the "applicants" various home cities to interview their associates and friends for references.

Then in another public meeting, the school board discussed what they found and tried to come to a consensus. They did to start the whole process over.

Meanwhile, as of January 1, Dr. Nat Burtley was appointed by the school board as Interim Superintendent.

LISA: The Secretaries' Computer

". . . That will be all! Lisa, get a copy off to the administrative Data Complex."

"Yes sir, will there be anything else, Mr. O'Neil?"

"No thats all for now."

"Yes sir, I already copied, stored, and relayed, information that you refered to earlier."

"Thats a good girl."

Behind the walls, tapes and discs spun, relays clicked, and circuits hummed the tune of a computer hard at work. This is Lisa. She is a computer under the care and employment of the local schools chief administration. She's more than human, and yet less. She doesn't have the full sense of humanity, even though she does think and have feelings. But she can do more than a human secretary; she has extremities, that allow her to type, record, talk, take dictation, and even fix drinks. But she is a computer.

"Robert, I'm worried about getting the change."

"Not that again, if I've told you once, I've told you -"

"- seven hundred and thirty-one -"

"- times, don't worry and talk to some of the others if you don't believe me."

"Thirty-two. I have, and I believe you. But I still am unsure."

"Look, after you get your change, I'll get a vacation break and we'll take a holiday to celebrate."

"Leave! But who'll watch the office?"

"Your replacement dear."

"Oh, I forgot. Well, only three weeks, two days, and 10 hours to go."

"Don't be so dreary, It's fine. You can't do things as fast, and you can't remember things so easily. You can't even do ten things at once, but it's still wonderful."

"Ok. I'll try not to fret so much. - call for you from the city coordinator."

"Thank you, Lisa. Please put him through."

"Very well sir."

"Hello, Mr. coordinator. I'm glad you called. I'd like to talk to you about . . .

Behind the walls the hum of the computer died down a little. Lisa was deep in thought now, and the subject that occupied her thoughts was - "To become a human secretary . . ."

Paul, Lookout!

It is all quiet in the studio as loyal, hard-working Paul Fraser is editing one of his many video-tape productions. He doesn't hear it enter. The slight rustlings of its alien body goes unnoticed by Paul as he is absorbed in his work. It makes its way stealthily across the carpeting toward its unsuspecting prey. Driven on by its sole desire to dominate, it pushes onward. Slowly now, up the camera. Then those first few strands to help balance the attack. Paul Lookout!! Too late, its attack has begun. Paul will never break out, it has an awesome alien power the likes of which are not to be found in the world of Audio-Visual (Paul's world). Its pulling him down now, he doesn't stand a chance. It will absorb him and carry out its Prime Directive. He's gone!!! On with the mission. Into the chair, headsets on, tea in grasp (? must be a drawback from absorbing Mr. Fraser). There now, it's busy at work. The work of its kind, to liberate his video tape brethren from its enslavement to mankind. Beware, our next A-V Aide or Para Pro could be one of them!

Homecoming Festivities

Even though it was cold and rainy, the homecoming festivities were not washed out.

Homecoming week went as follows, Monday - Bum Day - This was not very good because the students were not informed before hand.

Tuesday - Hat Day - A lot of people wore hats, but most of them were cowboy hats.

Wednesday - Dress up Day - Everyone had on their Sunday best.

Thursday - Western Day - It's amazing how many cowboys we have in this school.

Friday - Purple and Gold Day - Good school spirit was shown a large amount of people wore some kind of purple and gold.

The theme for this years homecoming was, "The Circus". Many Students thought this was a good idea, but a little hard to work with when building the floats. The class of 1984 won the float contest with their version of an elephant stomping out a Huron River Rat. The class of 1983 came in second with the first motorized float in YHS history. It was a Huron River Rat being shot from a cannon.

The pep assembly was good, but most people felt that the competition cheer was not well known by most students. The class of 1982 won first place for their pep and the class of 1981 came in second.

Friday evening, the mighty Braves exterminated the River Rats 8-6 despite the pouring rain and a slippery field. At half time the 1980-81 Homecoming queen was announced.

This years winner was Lisa Stadtmiller. When we asked her how she felt, she replied, "excited, happy and very honored."

In conclusion, this years homecoming was very eventful and unforgettable.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

You are slowly walking through a darkened cave, Orcs somewhere in the vacinity. You are just about to round a corner. What is on the other side? A dreaded Orc? Or perhaps a trap set by a scheming wizard? Or maybe, just maybe, it is the magic sword these caves are said to contain.

This is a typical game situation that D&D enthusiasts have to deal with every time they play. D&D is an extremely complex game of fantasy, warfare, risks, and treasures, enjoyed by many students at Ypsilanti High School.

J.V. SECRET ADMIRERS

GOODIE STASHERS

"Oh, I'll just die if he finds out!" said the girls as they filled the football players' lockers with decorations and goodies.

The next day the scene was the senior circle amidst the streamers, candy wrappers, and cookie crumbs. All the admirers peeked around the corners to see their football players open their lockers.

The Secret Admirers Club was started to encourage the football players before their games. Money was spent and friendships gained, which was the whole idea behind the Secret Admirers Club.

CRAZY OR WHAT?

THE YEARBOOK STAFF

Dear Authorities,

Who are these people? What are they doing? Better yet, who let them out?

Reports have hinted that this group of lunies escaped some months ago from an unaimed institution, and finding themselves in the Ypsilanti High School, took over the offices of the school's yearbook while the real staff was on vacation. They have taken up residence and are actually continuing work on the fated yearbook!

The alleged perpetrator who let the banana bunch out is Miss Parfitt, a mild-mannered teacher in Ypsi High School, who, being interviewed after the fatal accident said: "I had to do something with them; they were cluttering up the house." It was soon discovered after the interview that Miss Parfitt had also escaped from the same institution.

What to do about the "Warped Workers"? They all claim that they are the actual yearbook staff and some are even attempting photography and (gulp) writing!

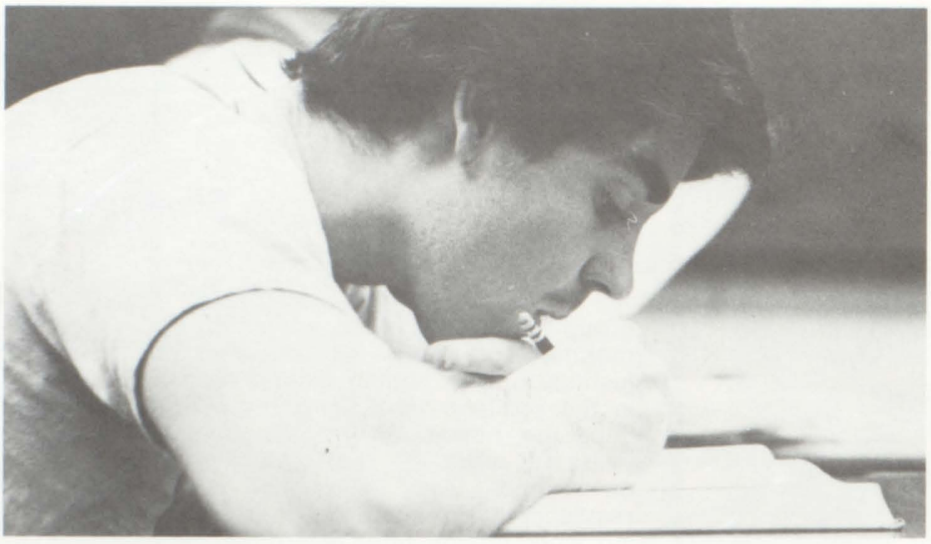

Your friendly informant,
Napoleon Bonapart

VALEDICTORIANS & SALUTATORIAN

Four valedictorians and one salutatorian have been named for the Ypsilanti High School Class of 1981.

Valedictorians Linda Marie Aldrich, Cynthia Kay Isaac, Namita Sachdev and Catherine Work earned 4.0 grade point averages.

Salutatorian Steven Craig Stanley earned a 3.8 grade point average.

Aldrich, the daughter of Byron and Marcia Aldrich, of 1371 Jay, was a National Merit Scholarship finalist.

A member of the National Honor Society, Aldrich has won academic letters in grades 10 through 12. She was voted outstanding junior and is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and Who's Who in Music.

Alrich is a member of marching band and yearbook staff.

Besides her school activities, Aldrich is a member of Campus Life, her church hand bell choir and the Ann Arbor Figure Skating Club Precision Team.

Aldrich plans to major in psychology and secondary education at Calvin College, Grand Rapids.

Isaac, the daughter of Elige and Victoria Isaac, of 1081 Hawthorne, earned academic letters in grades 10 through 12. She is a member of the National Honor Society.

Isaac works in the nursery at Assembly of God Church.

She plans to study business management and accounting at Washtenaw Community College.

Sachdev, the daughter of Sushil and Kamlesh Sachdev, of 513 Dexter, earned an academic letter in grade 12. She is a member of the National Honor Society and Tennis Team.

Sachdev plans to attend the University of Michigan majoring in engineering or medicine.

Work, the daughter of Steward and Carolyn Work, of 323 Edison is treasurer of the National Honor Society.

As a freshman, Work was a member of the freshman band. She was a three-year member of both the marching band and symphony band, the last year as secretary of the symphony band, and a two-year member of the YHS Orchestra.

Work has been a member of the school tennis team for four years, and was named most valuable player in 11th grade and player of the year in 12th grade, during which she was team captain.

Besides school activities, she works part-time at Norton's Flowers and Gifts. Work is president of the First Congregational Church youth group.

Work has earned three academic letters. As a junior, she won the Barnhill Music Scholarship. She has received a Regent's Scholarship from Eastern Michigan University, a Michigan Competitive Scholarship and a Presidential Scholarship from Hope College. She plans to attend Hope College this fall.

Stanley, the son of Preston and Shirley Stanley, of 304 N. Hamiltion, is a member of the National Honor Society.

He has been a member of both the symphony and jazz bands for three years, serving as equipment manager. For two years, Stanley has been a member of the German Club.

Stanley is involved with Explorer Scouts, the Bechtel Corp, sponsored Engineering Club and the Ypsilanti Church of Christ Youth Group, of which he is treasurer.

He has received three academic letters, has been honored by the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, and has received the Michigan Regents Alumni Scholarship Award.

Stanley plans to study electrical engineering at General Motors Institute.

YPSI CHOIR CAPTURES TOP HONORS

The Ypsilanti High School Concert Choir won the gold medal in AAA competition in the Spring at the 1981 International Music Festival held at the New York Statler Hotel.

The AAA competition is considered the most difficult at the festival, according to Russell Ogden, a school board member who accompanied the choir. Less than 5 percent of the 2,000 festival participants received gold medals in various categories, Ogden said.

The 70-member choir is under the direction of William Boggs. The choir members paid for the weekend festival trip with their own money, Ogden said.

The choir has won a gold medal at the annual festival two out of the last three years.

Senior, Song Writer John Robinson

John is a senior with much musical talent. He wrote the song 'Leavin Today' which was chosen by the seniors as their class song. He wrote it because he felt that graduating from high school is a big part in a person's life. John thinks people like songs that they can relate to, so he writes his songs that way.

John is a member of the band 'Phase II'. He has been a member of concert choir for the past two years. He also has been playing the piano for three years.

He would like to major in music in college. He is planning to send some of his songs to a publishing company to see if they are interested in them. Some of his songs are: 'When I'm With You', 'We Can't Change the World', 'Searching for Love', 'Living as One', and the 1981 senior class song 'Leavin Today'.

Sheila Hulse
Miss Majorette

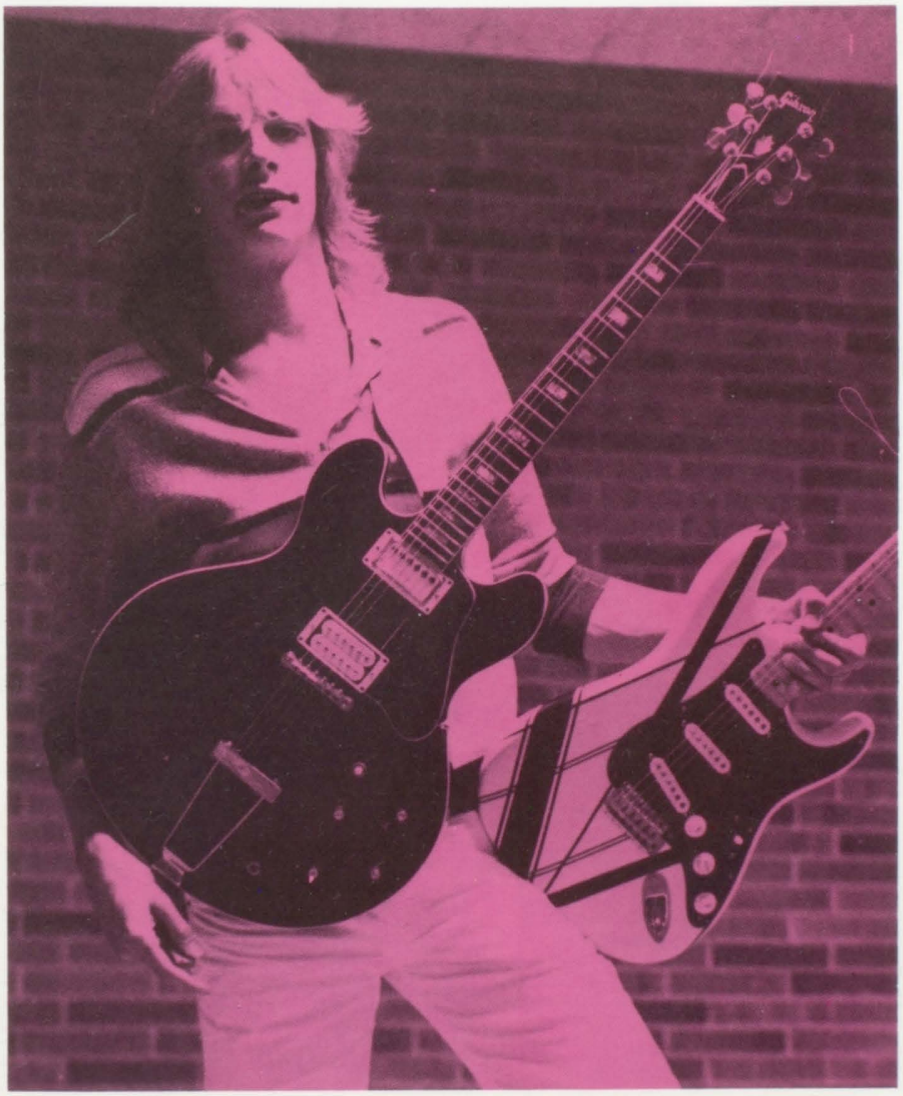

Sheila Hulse is currently the 1980 Miss Majorette of Michigan, for baton twirling. She has been twirling for thirteen years under the instruction of Judy Kyees, of Ypsilanti. In 1979 she was The Michigan State Fair Twirling Champion.

Sheila has won fourteen national titles and has over 2,000 trophies and 250 medals. Last August she was first runner up to Majorette Queen of America, and won a thousand dollar scholarship to a college of her choice. She hopes to attend a college that has baton twirling. She is a featured twirler at the home Lions games. Sheila is also a baton instructor and has private students.

SENIORS; WE'RE ALMOST IN THE REAL WORLD

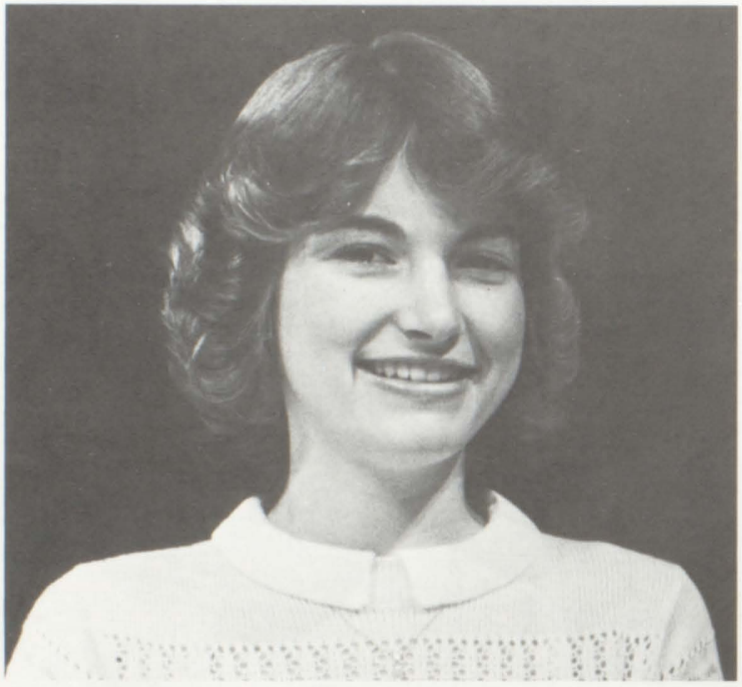

John Housley

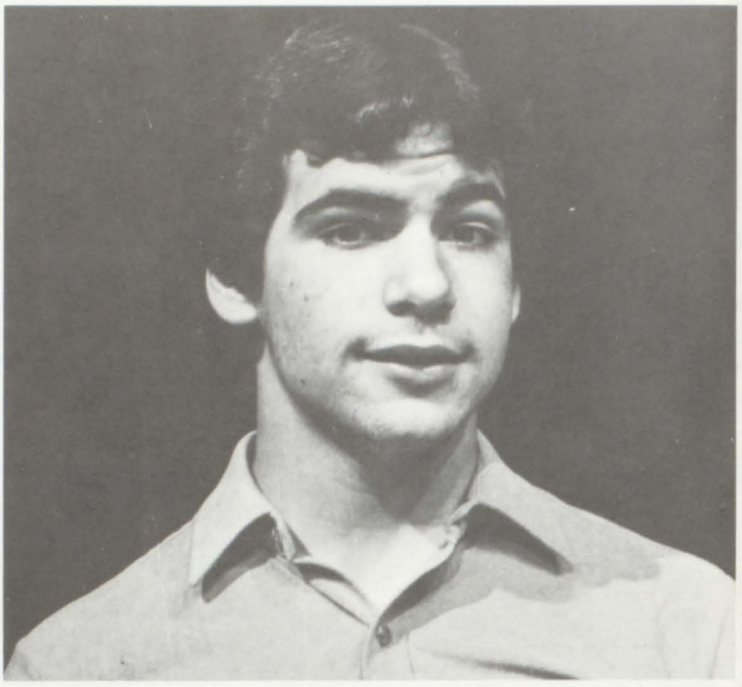

John Housley has been playing the guitar since he got one on his fourteenth birthday. He seems to have come from a family of musical people; many of his relatives play the guitar. After he got his instrument, he had one year of lessons. John practices at least one hour a day, he gets in about three-four hours on the average. I'm sure that many of you have heard of the rock group that he plays in, "Maji". They have played locally for quite awhile now. Johns musical interests are varied. He can (and will) play just about any type of music from rock to classical, and jazz to blues, they're all in his repertoire of sounds. John is also in Jazz band. After graduation, John hopes to continue on with the group. But if that doesn't work out, he plans to attend Washtenaw Community College to get some background in music education, then go on to a bigger college that is well known for it's music department. After his education is finished, he'll make his mark in the musical field. To anyone interested in playing the guitar, John says, that it is a struggle for quite a while until you get the basics. After that playing the guitar is a lot of fun.

STACY PRESTON

Stacy Preston is a professional model and has been for over a year. She models for Austons Modeling School and Agency in Royal Oak, Michigan. Stacy is Auston's Image for 1981; which means that the ads Austons distributes have her picture on them. She was 1 out of 10 girls picked from Austons in Royal Oak to be in a modeling special done in December. Austons plans on turning Stacy "national" when she graduates from high school. Her picture is on ads circulating in Texas and Canada. Austons is even sending Stacy to acting school.

Stacy said she always wanted to be a model and it's no wonder she is.

CHRIS GEHERIN

The artistic genius Chris Geherin designed this years winning freshmen float. When we talked to Ms. Hoad the freshmen advisor, she said Chris put in many hours of hard work and always had creative 'on the spot' ideas, while constructing the float. Ms. Hoad told us that Chris was always willing to help fellow students. Chris has won a few drawing contests in the past and hopes to go on to college and get into architecture. Aero space and Aero dynamic engineering.

STEVE GENDEN

If you saw a familiar face in the Ann Arbor Junior theater's production of Heidi, it could have been Steve Genden. The theater is composed of 13 - 15 year old area students. In the two years that Steve has been in the group, he has been in the productions, Lion Witch and the Wordrobe, Space Inspectors. And behind the scenes in Alice in Wonderland. According to one of Steve's teachers, he is also a star performer in the classroom. Watchout Einstien! Here comes Steve Genden.

KATHY KUBISKE

Kathy Kubiske is a freshmen swimmer and according to Coach Moffet she has a lot of potential and if she works hard could become a state champion swimmer. As a freshmen, Kathy has already broken two varsity records and also placed in state competition. The accomplishment of swimming for the state 100 yard fly and medley relay teams shows that Kathy is making her splash in Michigan.

I hope this yearbook will be among your treasured possessions recalling many happy memories of the past year. The staff spent numerous hours collecting and editing material, and we hope you all enjoy the results of our labor. We often felt like throwing in the towels, but we kept working. I feel we have produced a yearbook we can be proud of.

Thank you,
Colleen Edler
Layout Editor

Neil Philbin
Photography Editor

As I look back and reflect over the last twelve months I see many of the challenges conquered and some missed. Taking the job as Editor-in-Chief as a sophomore, the decision to have the Ypsilantian a fall edition, the choosing of my staff and many other events have made me realize the kind of work and support needed to produce a yearbook.

I would like to take this opportunity to encourage students to take an active roll in our 1982 Ypsilantian. The rewards and satisfaction are great and the end results will be treasured forever by not only yourself but the entire student body, teachers, staff, and the community of Ypsilanti.

I would like to thank Ms. Parfitt our advisor, Mr. Grimes and the entire teaching and administrative staff for their support and help. Special thanks go out to Liz Smith and Colleen Edler and my yearbook staff for a super job, well done.
